WHAT IS LOVE?

WRITTEN POR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER. BY W. T. BENNETTE.

"That is love, oh, that is love!"

Made the melody complete

Nestled on the sward beside

Came a lover, tall and grand, Dark blue eyes, of kindly mien;

All abashed, the maiden ceased;

Clasped her hands his own between.

and a nightingale above

Sang a maiden low and sweet,

THE BAFFLED TRAGEDIAN?

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY MONROE H. ROSENFELD.

We met, by gaslight, and by chance His glance was full of woe; Long whiskers were upon his pants, His heels and spirits low.

"Oh, tell me why that tragic air, That look of dismal scorn ?" "Ha! like the Moor," he whispered there, "My occupation's gone!

"Full many parts in Life I've played, And countless ties I've trod; But now my grand career is stayed, No more the boards I'll plod.

"The grand old fashioned Drama's dead. Defunct as coffin nail!
The glories of the Past are fied; (Mine's whiskey) Life is stale!"

"Stale, flat, unprofitable to me Are all things mundane now!
I'll tell my fearful woes to thee Ere I to Fate shall how.

"Time was the actor was revered For his pure art divine; But 'Realism' now has seared The roses on his shrine.

"With locomotives on the stage, And fire engines, too,
With 'buzz saws' all the nightly rage, What can an actor do!

"'Canal locks' now have locked me out, 'Steam launches' have their sway; With ecstasy the people shout To see 'pumps' in a play.

"Oh, bear with me! I had a date; With joy I chuckling said: Now is my chance to baffle Fate, True art is no more dead !

"A new play was to welcome me With all my tragic power; These eyes of mine began to see Hope's radiant, blissful hour!

"Alas! my spirits soon grew dim, To lowest level sank; I hate a bath-I cannot swim-The new play had a Tank !"

GIVING UP THE GHOST.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY GEORGE REARDON.

It all happened so long enough ago that none of the sterested can object to my telling the story of it, or be hurt in any way by the disclosures that will form the nucleus of this o'er true tale. Even Mr. Miner will not feel that he has suffered very severely through our theft of "The Silver King," and I am sanguine enough to hope that the few unfortunates who saw our presentations of the sterling English play, and survived, have forgiven us by this time, even if they have not been able to forget.

In using the phrase "our theft," I do not wish to be understood as giving up the privilege that is ac-corded other members of the criminal classes—the right to refuse to criminate onesself. Nor do I intend to discuss the ethics of play piracy, which would probably hold the player as guilty as the manager in such a case. But I do want to assert right here that the "our" does not mean that I had any share in the management of the company—the strongest reason for this being that, like Touch-stone's knight's honor, it never had any. I was merely a member of the company, playing as many parts in the plays as the limitations of one head, one body, one pair each of legs and arms would to be cast for.

It would not be amis, by the by, to tell some thing of the slow and sure process by which the end was brought about, so that these two performances of "The Silver King" were made very desirable-in fact, were rendered absolutely necessary, providing anybody in the party cared to get back to that haven of rest, New York City. Though, after all, it was only the old story of time booked at too short no tice, of starting out without enough money to pro-cure suitable printing, of doing all the fool things that are possible in theatrical business.

Then the manager (also the star, and the manager) did not believe in that product of all that is mos desirable in modern civilization, the advance agent and so our paper was shipped ahead to the var towns, and the "local managers" were instructed to put it out. We generally found that they had put it out-out of sight. Now, for some reason that I cannot easily explain, I believe in the theatrical agent, even though I may not often be able to be lieve him; and I have often wondered how many years Sol Smith Russell might have saved in his efforts to reach success if he had had a man ahead of his brilliancy to shine withal.

Well, the time came with us when we began to wonder if there was any more money left in this blessed country, or any more people that were of the theatre going age, when the star and manager could no longer draw a cheque any more than he could draw a house. The company had been growing smaller through constant defections, until it was to small to play pieces with short casts. What more natural, then, than to put up "The Silver King," with its long cast?

So up went "The Silver King," for two performances that were to be such colossal succes they would put the company on a firm basis again, and send it on with fiving colors—and new people for the rest of the season. At any rate, this is what the manager of the theatre told our manager, and of course he ought to know. The first of the 1wo ights was to be put in at a good sized town about ten miles away—the second was to be devoted to the manager's own house. Then we were to rest (I believe that is the proper term) until some new peo-ple came on from New York, and after that we were to get all our back salaries—which is what our man ager told us, and of course he ought to know!

There were six members of the regular company, including the child, left at this time, and in the two performances we were accompanied by four amateurs—I say "accompanied" advisedly, because my story will show plainly that we were not "assisted" by them to any great extent, if they are to be taken in the aggregate. On the first night one of the amateurs played Geoffry Ware and Cripps, the other being assigned to the role of the detective merely. What the amateurs did with their parts, on both nights, had better be told in future paragraphs.

Of the regular company four people were unable to do more than one part each, D. Wilfred Denver, Nellie Denver, the Spider and the child. This left an interesting situation for the juvenile man (that was ——) and the soubrette. This bright little tortions rather than acting, was made representa-tive of the majesty of the law. When he presented his card to John Franklin (Denver), by one of those accidents that happen to even the best regulated amateurs, he got tangled in the name of the part and introduced himself as "Sam Pitts, Scotland Yard." Dear old Professor!

As we had no hut, Coombes threw Neilie Denver out of the same scene that was the Spider's palatial home, and the next moment faithful old Jaikes came on to announce to Nellie that her husband is alive and well, and, of necessity, rich. It didn't seem to bother Jaikes in the least that the wretched was —) and the soubrette. This bright little woman went into trousers for Harry Corkett, the ward the thieves' den and the pretty home that Den-will not forget for many a day. There was no re-about the same time the supply in the bottle did, and Cripps went off to look for another bottle, let us hope, rather than more verses. Immediately the Professor was pushed on for Cripps again, and the tragedy proceeded.

Now, the Professor had never studied the lines that Cripps has set down for him in this scene, and so the Professor could hardly be called an ideal Cripps. But we had him to move his lips for the speeches, and Coombes, turning his back to the audience, spoke them, as "trippingly on the tongue" as he knew how.

Thus was the curtain lowered on a notable dramatic venture-one that those that participated in Silenced was her plaintive voice; Eyes met eyes—the story there Made her longing heart rejoice. "What is love, oh, what is love?" Let me hear your answer, dear, I love you, and you love me— What have we the world to fear?" Love is like the water pure. Flowing from the riven stone; Love can every pain endure For the heart that is its own. Love will rise above the fears That encompass loving souls. Love will banish grief and tears-Warn you of impending shoals. Love is nature, grand, sublime; Love is heaven, joy complete: Love's a world replete with bliss— All my world lies at my feet. And I see love in your eves. Biue as all the sky above; I am yours for life and aye-That is love, oh, that is love. JOSEPHINE FLORENCE SHEPHERD.

This capable actress is the daughter of Mrs. W. J. Florence, by her first husband, the late Joseph Lit tell, an old time Bowery favorite, and a native of New York. Upon he death of Mr. Littell the daughter was placed in the care of the late W. J. Florence. who had her educated at Mount St. Vincent Acad-emy, Yonkers, N. Y. Later, she was taken to France, where her education was completed. Miss Shepherd is a Catholic, and was confirmed Josephine Florence Littell, Returning to this country, she married quite young, and became a society le being a member of the Amaranth Dramatic Club, of Brooklyn, and the Wallack Club, of this city, at that time having no idea of ever adopting the profession as a means of livelihood. She had often appeared in concerts in this city, and gained consid able local reputation as a singer. Shortly after this Miss Shepherd was seized with the desire of adopting the operatic stage as a profession, but fate decreed otherwise, and in 1884 she made her pro fessional debut with Lotta, remaining with that clever soubrette three seasons, then joining Estelle Clayton's Co. She next joined A. M. Palmer's "Pri-vate Secretary" Co., and later was engaged by Daniel Frohman for "The Wife" Co., for two sea-sons. Miss Shepherd is a handsome woman, with a fine stage presence. She is a bright conversation ist, speaking French, German and Italian, and a fine musician, with a strong mezzo soprano voice. Like her mother, she is a magnificent dresser. There are few comediennes who have so large a circle of admirers throughout the country. Miss Shepherd will play the title role in Oscar Sisson's comedy, "The Colonel," the coming season, under the management of C. W. Morton.

sporty young clerk, and took them off again to ap-pear as Olive Skinner, the Spider's wife, and in one scene to do Susie, the anything but dumb waiter. As for the writer—I mean the juvenile man—he was cast for Jaikes, the faithful old servant, and Coombes, the Jew fence. At first thought, this double seems to be an impossible one, but, by cutting Jaikes of the first act, and by some fearful, wonderful changes in dress and make up, it is possible to a uggest the two characters.

And the day of the first performance came! The two managers had gone over to the town early in the day, and when we reached the hall in the afternoon we found-well, perhaps as queer a stage as was ever used for a theatrical performance. The back wall was covered with an American flag, the wings were made of red building paper, the curtain was of several patterns of draperies, and had to be closed in from the sides, the two dressing rooms were similarly shut off from the auditorium. An attempt had been made to give the ladies as much privacy as possible, but with only indifferent success. On the way home at night a scapegrace assured the ladies that, although ve had been together for several weeks, we had seen so much of them in all the time as we had in that one evening—and he still

Of course, such a play under the circumstance could be nothing but a farce, and I doubt whether the audience enjoyed it so much as the people on the stage did. When Geoffrey Ware was shot at the the first act he fell so near the lamps tha end of the first act he fell so near the lamps that we all felt that the fire department would finish the play for us. The sigh of relief that went up when we found we were to be disappointed was accom-panied (not "assisted") by an audible smile when we saw that, in accordance with an old tradition about men that are shot, he had fallen face down-ver had provided for his family. But twelve o'clock did come, and found us on our way home, with more money in the manager's pocket than had been there for some little time.

The second and last time we did "The Silver King," was in fairly well appointed theatre, and we went to the trouble of making a hut for the third act, so the farcical element was re But the performance was a very funny affair, just

We had lost our Geoffry Ware and Cripps by a family complication (he was a minor, and his mother took him by force to the home from which he had run away—though we had not known this), and the landlord of the hotel volunteered to play Ware for us. He played the part in a very creditable man-

But the Cripps part was where all the amusement came in. The Professor had been told to study the first scene of the part, while the local manager was to do the part in the scene of the thieves' den, and was to introduce a specialty—and he did!

The Professor managed to get through his scene without an epileptic fit, and everybody was encouraged into thinking that the local manager would cover himself with glory. Perhaps he did, toonone of us ever ventured back there to find out whether they locked him up or gave him the free dom of the town.

No words could describe that specialty! I re-member that Cripps came into the old boat house wearing a rubber cost, and I can still recall Coombes wearing a rubber coat, and I can still recall Coombea' amazement when, having sung one verse of a song, he removed that garment and discovered a gorgeous blazer; after that another verse—and another blazer. By constant resorting to a bottle that had much to do with the business of this scene, Cripps was in condition to be uncertain as to which should come condition to be uncertain as to which should come off first, the verse or the blazer, and the rest of us were wondering whether we would have to ring the curtain down, or only call the police.

Luckily the supply of verses and blazers gave out organization of the company, and the business ione was not responsible for this, either. After the econd act, on that last evening, the manager and star was informed by The Spider, by the soubrette (in her character as The Spider's wife, of course and by the juvevile man, in keeping, with the char acter of the villainous Coombes, not that of the faithful Jaikes, that they must have twenty dollars each to get back to New York with. There was money enough in the house that he did not dare re fuse-they got the money-the end was painful, but Digital Depression.

Did you ever notice, when a man smites his humb with a hammer, while putting down a carpet under wifely supervision and criticism, how quickly he thrusts the bruised and throbbing member into his ready mouth? asks Burdette in The Ladies

People think it is because the application is soothing. But no; it is an involuntary movement, same as winking. The man cannot help it.

Nature knows what the man would be apt to say under the circumstances, and so she has provided him with a stopper, and has ordained that whenever he hits his thumb hard enough to hurt-and i doesn't take very much to nearly kill a man when he is doing something he doesn't want to-by a sort of interjocking system the thumb files into his mouth

Some men whom you and I know abould be pro vided with an extra thumb, which they might carry about in their hand all the time it wasn't in active use. It would be a great thing, wouldn't it?

STANDING UP FOR BABY .- "Jack, old man, I've "How's that?" just been made a godfather." "How's that?"
"Why, while I was in an elevated car today, a woman entered with a baby and looked around for a seat. I stood up for the baby."

Spontaneous Combustion.

The theory of spontaneous combustion of the numan body in former times was held by almost every expert. French scientistists, in particular, supported it, and several of them published pam-phiets in which numerous cases of alleged spontaneous combustion of the human body were de scribed at length, but there are three very signifi cant points to be noticed in connection with such reports. One is the invariable admission that there was a light or fire in the room where the catastrophe occurred; another, that the alleged instances always happened in families composed of ignorant persons; and another, that in no case was there any actual witness of the occurrence.

Something like seventy-five per cent, of the human body consists of water. This fact in itself is sufficient to discredit any of the alleged instances of spontaneous combustion. It is just conceivable that persons who drink an enormous amount of spirituous liquors may become so saturated, as it were, with this inflammable material that their bodies burn much more easily than would those of people who do not overindulge in this way; but it is perfectly certain that the fire would have to be applied from without, for no such thing as spontaneous mbustion could be possible in an article contain ing so great a preponderence of the liquid element as does the human body.

Anatomical.

A quack doctor stood on his wagon at a street corner selling his cure-all. A group of people gathered about him, and he undertook to explain to the m the anatomy of the threat.

"My dear friends," he began, "perhaps you don't know it, but there are two passages that go from the back of the mouth to the stomach. One is called the esophagus, and the other is the esophagi. Now, the solid victuals goes down the esophagus, and the liquids down the resophagi.

"Over the top of the holes is a cover with a hinge in the middle, and when you swallow beefsteak the ittle door over the œsophagus flies open, and the ittle door over the œsophagi drops down, and vice versa when you take a drink of coffee."

This description proved too much for a farmer who stood on the edge of the crowd. Shaking with jaughter, he remarked, in a loud tone:
"Gosh, but those doors must go flipper flopper

when a fellow eats bread and milk! POOR FELLOW!-See that man over there ?" "Yes." "He was worth a million once." "Poor fellow. How did he lose it!" "He didn't. He has five millions Sells Bros.' Circus Captures the City Dr. Carver's Wild West.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper.] San Francisco, June 21.—At the Baldwin Theatre,

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—At the Baldwin Theatre, "The Lion Tamer" received its first representation here last evening, the beginning of the third week of the engagement of Francis Wilson and company. Warwick Ganor, baritone, late of the Tivoli, has been signed by Mr. Wilson for a long engagement and made his first appearance with this company last evening as Pleasso. The engagement has not been the success it should have been.

Calipornia Theatrre.—Bonnelly and Girard presented "Natural Gas" here last evening to the usual crowded first night house. The company received as enthusiastic reception.

BRUCH STREET THEATRE.—"I'the Police Patrol" was presented here for the first time last evening. Barney Ferguson will present "McCarthy's Mishaps" 27 for two weeks.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Dr. W. F. Carver began a three weeks' season in his frontier drama, "The Scout," at this house last night. Dr. Carver as the scout passes through a series of thrilling adventures that require a large expense in staging the play. One of the principal scenes shows a river of real water in a ten-foot tank, spanned by a bridge. On one side is a high bluff. After rescuing the heroine Mr. Carver engages in a desperate struggle with his pursuer, and hurls him into the stream below, from which he is rescued by the Indians. Then the girl is seen crossing the bridge on the scout's horse, the latter remaining behind, keeping up an animated warfare in covering her flight. Later, when the scout rides on the bridge on an Indian pony, the bridge, having been tampered with by his enemy, gives way, and the horse takes a bath, while Dr. Carver clings to a beam of the bridge. The piay is produced under the management of Fred Whitney, of Detroit.

ALGAZAR.—Charles Erin Verner has a legion of friends, judging from the large house and enthusiastic appliause that greeted his first appearance here last evening in his new play, "Loch Na Garran." STOCKWELL'S.—That Mr. Stockwell is not inclined to superstition is evidenced by the fact that his new theatre will open on Friday, July 8, with "As You Like It." Ang. Daly's Co. will give twenty-five performances in all. Their engagement will end July 30, when they will return at once to New York.

SELIS BROS. CIRCUS is giving two performances daily at Central Park. The performance has captured the city. The company really deserves the patronage it receives. The riding is the perfection of equitation.

GEORGE M. Jackson and Gaynell Galvin, of the Stirk Family, now engaged with Sells' Circus, were married June 13, at San Francisco.

NOTES FROM CHAS. LEE'S LONDON SHOWS.—Business continues good. Mrs. Chas. Lee purchased a fine two seat surry last week which she drives over the road. George Irving and Mme. La Belle, his wife, visited Mr. Irving's home at Haverhill, Mass., over Sunday. Mack Evans, contracting agent, for Leon Washburn's Shows, was a recent visitor. We had a blow down between the shows at Biddeford, Me., June 14, but McLoughing, our boss canvas man, had the top up for a night show. No one hurt. Mr. Lee has made a flying trip on to the advance. He reports everything looks good ahead. Mme. Luluk, Circassian snake charmer, lost one of her large snakes last week. Billy Lee is kept busy handling the green paste boards on the front door. Lall Eggleston sprained his ancle 13. His place was filled by Billy Lee, singing clown. The stock is looking finely despite the hot weather and sandy roads.

The only regular houses open are the Columbia, the Museum and the Globe, and at each of those houses the Summer season card is hung on the outer walls. The result is that the popular price houses are garnering shekels galore, although, as a matter of fact, they manage to get their "bit," and a big one at that, at all times. With the single exception of our new amusement resort, the Arena Concert Gardens, I have nothing fresh to note.

Sallie Reber died at Rutherford Park, N. J., March 12, 1885. She was the daughter of Geo. Reber, a lawyer, and was born at Sandusky, O., in 1864.
Early in 1879, having previously become well known as a concert singer, she made her debut at the Grand Opera House, this city, in "The Bohemian Girl." Miss Reber achieved success here as Lydia, in "Fatunitza." Her final appearance in this city was as Phillis, in "Iolanthe," at the Standard Theatre, from Nov. 25, 1882, to Feb. 24, 1883. In 1880 she married Franklin F. R. Laing, who died about September, 1883. She had been ill with gastritis for some time. Just prior to her decease, she was said to be the wife of James D. Fish, the defaulter, who served a term in Sing Sing prison.

In Memoriam: Marlande Clarke. He sleeps in death! Beyond the hours of waking, Dear, faithful friend. Toll slow the funeral bell! Beyond all ties of making and of breaking,

Beyond all days of acting and of dreaming, Beyond all hours of happiness or woe, Beyond the real beyond the seeming, Beyond the tides that slowly come and go.

Far. far beyond their ebbing and their flowing, Beyond the rise and setting of the sun.
Beyond the coming and beyond the going.
In peace of heaven, my dead and dear loved one.

Beyond the blooming and beyond the fading Of bud and flower, of tender leaf and tree; Beyond the shining and beyond the shading, He rests, he rests in deep eternity!

No more for him the smiling and the weeping; His smiles, his tears are done; For him no more the sowing and the reaping;

Beyond our touch, beyond our sight forever,
Beyond the gifts that loving hands have wrought,
Beyond all power we have to bind or severBut not, thank God! ah, not beyond our thought.

- A report has crept into certain papers that Margaret Mather will play only sixteen weeks next season. This, doubtless, comes from a contract for sixteen weeks on M. B. Leavitt's circuit, beginning Aug. 22 at Minneapolis, and ending Dec. 10 at Des Moines, having then taken in the entire Pacific tour

Aug. 22 at Minneapolis, and ending Dec. 10 at Des Moines, having then taken in the entire Pacific tour meantime. As a matter of fact, Manager Frank Carlos Griffith has signed contracts already covering nearly every date almost up to May, 1893, and he will fill further time. His engagements for the people, also, are for thirty-two weeks, and will probably be for more time. Manager Griffith has engaged Emma Cushman Tuttle, who lately supported Mme. Janauschek, as leading lady. She is a Boston girl, who recently played Mary Stnart there very successfully. She is a very talented actress, handsome and a fine singer. Some of the people are still not engaged. Joseph E. Whiting is re-engaged.—On June 14, at Saratoga, N. Y., the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment in the case of James C. Duff against Lillian Russell, appellant. This was an appeal from the judgment of the General Term, affirming a judgment in favor of the plaintiff. This action was brought by James C. Duff, the manager, to restrain Lillian Russell from a threatened breaking of her engagement with plaintiff, and to prevent her appearsance at the Casino with a rival company, under the management of Mr. Aronson. Miss Russell, in October, 1887, entered into an engagement with the plaintiff for the seasons of 1887-8 and 1888-9, at a salary of $300 per week. The opera to be given was "The Queen's Mate," in which she was required to appear in tights. Miss Russell alleged that while at Chicago she contracted a cold, and she refused to appear in tights for fear of further injury to her health. A preliminary injunction was obtained, the defeudant agreeing to pay $2,000 and costs in liquidated damages, should the final decision be unfavorable to her, and she was permitted to join Rudolph Aronson's Co. and appear at the Casino.—At the annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Elks, at Buffalo, N. Y., June 14 the Grand Secretary.

costs in liquidated damages, should the final decision be unfavorable to her, and she was permitted to join Rudolph Aronson's Co. and appear at the Casino.

—At the annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Elks, at Buffalo, N. Y., June 14, the Grand Secretary's report was read. It showed that there are two hundred and twenty-two lodges in good standing, with a total membership of eighteen thousand two hundred and twenty-one. The amount of cash on hand in the Grand Lodge treasury is $90.898. The value of property of the Grand Lodge is $342,511.54, making a total valuation of assets $433,409.01. The amount expended for charity by the Grand Lodge during the year was $28,188.77. The receipts of the Grand Lodge amounted to $15,300, and the expenses were $10,100. The closing session was held 16. Royal purple was continued as the color of the order, and the forget me not was adopted as the floral emblem. It was resolved to appoint a special committee on "cluba" connected with lodges, and also to adopt a law prohibiting holding lodge sessions on Sundays, and also that no pientes or celebrations of the order should be held on the Sabbath day. Grand Exalted Ruler Hay appointed W. C. Smith of Elmirasa inner guard, and J. Williams of Denver as grand esquire; also L. E. Griffiths, Troy; L. M. Haddon, Cinclinasi, and E. B. Fuller, Haverhill, Mass., as the committee on laws and appeals. At noon the Grand Lodge adjourned, to meet next year at Detroit.

— Austin Price writes entertainingly of affairs theatrical at Dayton, O., as follows: "Sojourning a week or two in this stirring little town, I was surprised to see the stir here in theatrical matters, going ahead slowly but surely. No fewer than ninety professional people are Summering here, of more or less prominence, besides the very superior company plaving at the Soldiers' Home. Both theatres are closed for the season, but people are astir for next. Percy H. Clifford, a resident of Dayton and an actor of no mean ability, has written a war drama, called "Across the Line." I was honored with a reading, and I prophecy the author will be heard from before long, as he certainly knows how to write a play. He also has written another, called 'Linders' for Herman, of Chicago, that is to have a good production. "Across the Line" opens the Park this season, and will undoubtedly be a success. Little Goldle is also rehearsing with a good company. I met an old Australian actor here, Harry Bridson, who is doing America in a two years' rip. He is never without a CLIPPER, and says he has taken it for years at Sydney, Australia."

:MEWYORK(ITY

Last Week's Doings .- A rather unevent ful theatrical week came to a close with the produc tion, on Saturday night, June 18, of a partial nov elty. It was in the shape of a "romantic, comic nautical opera," "The Vice Admiral," and it was nautical opera," "The Vice Admiral," and it was heard at the Casino on that evening with many manifestations of pleasure by a large sized audience. It is the work of that always graceful composer, Carl Millocker, and the libretto of Herren Zell and Genee has been newly turned into English for the Casino by John P. Jackson. The opera is not entirely unknown in this country. Heinrich Conreid's Co. sang it for some time, principally in the West, in an English version by Mr. Jackson, and in October, 1889, it was heard at the Amberg Thein October, 1889, it was heard at the Amberg The-atre in its original German form. In neither case was it very successful. At the Casino, however, thanks it very successful. At the Casino, nowever, inanks to a picturesque staging, a numerous and sprightly chorus, and the unctuous comedy work of Jeff De Angells, it is likely to meet with a good degree of favor during the Summer. The music is dainty, if not sirikingly original, and the text is occasionally not strikingly original, and the text is occasionally witty and seldom actually dull. Jennie Reiffarth, Annie Myers, Emma Hanley, Charles M. Bassett and Harry McDonough were conspicuous in the cast, which, in full, is as appended: Sybyilina, Annie and on the following evening the money was refunded to a $46 audience. The engagement was for ten weeks, Frank Dupree, the librettist and partner with Geo. Wotherspoon in the venture, feeling confident that it would run that long to paying business. Frederic Solomon wrote the score. There had been rumors that there was not much money back of the production, and everybody concerned in it demand production, and everybody concerned in it demand-ed spot cash. It was pay day 14, and when Dupree & Wotherspoon told the actors and actresses that they would have to be satisfied with only a portion of their pay there was a unanimous protest. The company decided that they would not go on, and so "King Kaliko" did not appear that night. About $7,000 had been sunk in the venture, it is said. The theatre is now dark for the remainder of the Sum-mer....The continued shows last week were: "Jupiter" at Palmer's, "A Trip to Chinatown" at Hoyr's Madison Square, "Robin Hood" at the Garden MADISON SQUARK, "ROUIN HOOD" at the GARDEN, German operas at the Amberg, "Old Jed Prouty" at PROCTOR'S TWENTY-THIRD STREET, "The Robber of the iRhine" at MINER'S FIFTH AVENUE and the Leonzo Bros.' Co. at the ROUMANIA OPERA HOUSE. The Leonzos ended their fortnight in the lower Bowery 18......Variety continued at Tony Paston's, the London and Miner's Eighth Avenue and Bowery Theatres..... The dark theatres were these: Daly's, Harrigan's, the New Park, Stand-ARD, LYCRUM, FOURTEENTH STREET, STAR, NIBLO'S PEOPLE'S, H. R. JACOBS', ACADEMY, GRAND OPERA HOUSE, METROPOLITAN, BIJOU, HERRMANN'S, HAR LEM OLYMPIC and HARLEM OPERA HOUSE The LENOX LYCEUM closed night of 14, and the an nouncement was made that Adolph Neuendorff's nouncement was made that Adolph Neuendorn's season of Summer night concerts was postponed. The reason given was that Director Neuendorff sprained his ankle about a week ago, and found the injury so painful that he could not stand to lead the orchestra. It was the general im-pression that the house was closed because it was not paying. The season opened, unfortunately, on a very wet night, and the audience had been very small. A big cooling apparatus had been placed in the house, and it was expected that the season would be a success. Nearly all the orchestra was composed of members of the Philharmonic Society. ... J. T. Maguire, of Manager J. W. Rosenquest's staff, benefited at the Fourteenth Street night of 15, to a large house. The bill was an excellent one.....The roof gardens continued to flourish. Sig. Campanini and Adele Bicard (a new contraito) ap peared at the Madison Square Garden night of 17, while at the Casino Roof Garden La Granadina a Spanish dancer, made her American debut night of 15. She is young, pretty, graceful and agile..... The week stands closed 18 were by Wright Hunt-ington in "The Golden Giant" at the Harlem Columbus (that date also ending the Columbus sea-

on) and Ada Gray in "East Lynne" at the Windson
..... Huber's Palack Muskum closed its season i with a benefit to the attaches. The GRAND and DORIS' were dark all the week.....The Bostonians celebrated the second anniversary of "Robin Hood" at the Garden night of 16. It was two years ago that the opera was first produced at the Chicago opera House, and its career has been one of unin-terrupted prosperity. Reginald De Koven, com-poser of the opera, sat in the conductor's chair 16. Samuel L. Studley, the regular conductor of the this was the fourth time he had been absent from his post, MARTIN SRNALTER, a Roumanian musician, went to Ellis Island June 17, and told Col. Weber that he was one of a party of eleven who arrived here a few weeks ago, under contract with the manager of the Eden Musee. When the Roumanians arrived the Eden Musee, When the Roumanians arrived the Eden Musee people did not wish them, because the trouble with their Hungarian orchestra had been settled. The strangers were therefore left to their own resources, and, knowing no one and unable to speak the language, they were in a pitiable condition. Mr. Sensiter thought the limmigration authorities could give them some assistance. Col. Weber told them that they came here as arrists, and therefore did not come within the provisions of the Contract Labor law. He, however, promised to investigate the matter, and ascertain if the proprietors of the Eden Musee failed to comply with any contract that they may have made with the Roumanians. If they have, efforts will be made to see that the unfortunates get what was promised them.

All the actors and actreases who took part in the production of "Elysium," which came to a sudden stop at Herrmann's June 11, went to that house 14, to see William Fieron, adapter and manager of the play. He had notified them that he would pay their salaries, but he failed to do so. The explanation he had was that he din't have the money. The people felt very sore, and turned to E. L. Bloom, Prof. Herrmann or teaponsible in any way for Mr. Pieron's debts. They all said they would sue. Mr. Fleron charges that Prof. Herrmann makes equally specific counter charges. Meanwhile, the company are "left."

MANAGER OSCAR HAMMERSFEIN'S bid for "The Isle of Champagne" was accepted by its managers June 17, and the opera will open the new Manhatian Opera House in the Pall. Mr. Hammerstein had originally planned to open the house with his American Opera Co. in "Boadbil," but he will send it on the road until the Winter.

THE musicians who play in the public parks com-plained to Comptroller Myers June 17 that an in-justice was done them by compelling them to report for duty when rain prevented them from playing. No pay is allowed them unless they play. The Comptroller said he would audit their bills for half pay when they reported for work and were pre-vented by the weather.

La Regaloncita, the seven year old who was to have danced in "King Kaliko," but was taken in charge by Commodore Gerry's offerers after the performance Monday evening, June 13, was in the budge's room of the Jefferson Market Police Court, morning of 16, with her mother, against whom the formal complaint was made; her little sister, Gracioss, and Miss Dorothy, her manager. Mr. Gerry was there to look after the rights of his society. Ex-Judge Dittenhoefer appeared for the child, whose name off the stage is Middred Kwer. Miss Dorothy had decided to make the case a test of the constitutionality of the law, so examination was waived, and Justice Divver put Mrs. Ewer, Midred's mother, under $500 bonds for trial in special Sessions. Counsel Dittenhoefer at once started to obtain a wit of habeas corpus, the defendant being put in charge of Warden Ledwith, with Mr. Gerry's permission to keep her child with her. During the lawyer's absence the two children played about the room, and gave scraps of dialogues and dances in a way that indicated no particular detriment to their menial or physical powers. At two o'clock everybody interested in the case appeared in the Supreme Court, where Judge Beach presided. The writ of habeas corpus was granted, and by an arrangement between the two sides an adjournment was taken to June 23. Mosntime Mr. Dittenhoefer will be Mrs. Ever's custedian, with Mr. Gerry's consent. The argument will be before Judge Andrews, a Special Term. In regard to the case, Commodore the Law. Haw me east supply trying consent; but the law back no account of financial matters, and he was acting according to the law, which forbids a child under sixteen years of age to dance in public. Ex-Judge Dittenhoefer said that he should support the child, and not the child the parent; but the law had not the child earn money in any way that injured neither the health her the best of the child. A letter from Dr. Thomas G. Martin, of Philadelphia, a member of the Pennsylvania Society for the Protection of Children from Cruel cations regarding business for all of B. F. Keith's houses must be addressed, has his headquarters at the Bijou, Philadelphis.

Loir Fuller will be compelled, under a decision made by Judge McAdam of the Superjor Court, June 16, to confine her serpentine, dance to the few minutes during which she appears in "A Trip to Chinatown." Miss Fuller made a contract with Hoyt & Thomas to dance under their management, but she expressly refused to sign a contract with a clause to the effect that she was to appear with loyt & Thomas exclusively. Nevertheless, when she danced at the Amberg Hoyt & Thomas applied for an injunction, and the application for a continuance was argued before Judge McAdam. Juge McAdam holds that Miss Fuller's performance is, according to her own description, "unique," and, being so, the spirit of her employment by Hoyt & Thomas must be that they should be entitled to her exclusive services. Judge E. Henry Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court, has handed down his decision, refusing to enjoin Minnie Renwood Bemis from doing Lole Fuller's alleged serpentine dance at the Madison Square Roof Garden. Judge Lacombe says: "Merely mechanical movements by which effects are produced on the stage are not subjects for copyright when they convey no ideas. Surely this dance described and produced here conveyed and was devised to convey to the spectator no other idea than that of a comely woman illustrating the poetry of motion in a singularly graceful fashion. Such an idea new be pleasing, but it can hardly be called dramatic."

Such as inder may be pleasing, but it can hardly be called dramatic."

A number of attractive entertainment at Dare's Dancing Academy June 14, before relatives and friends. It was a variety entertainment, and every number was clever. The little ones showed themselves to be good dancers, and did many things quite as well as grown up professionals. This was specially so in the case of Laurs Lambert, who performed a tambourine dance in Spanish style with grace. She also gave the serpentine dance, and was heartly appiauded. Little Baby Parker recited and sang, and Johnny McKever did a Spanish dance clad in little black skirts that was appreciated. Among the others who appeared were Mabel Craig, Louise Selleck, Nanor Fowier, Georgie Keily, Joel Harris and Hulda Halverson.

The examination in supplementary proceedings of Manager J. M. Hill, to ascertain whether he has property to satisfy a judgment for $1,221, held by John G. Weaver and others, was continued June 16.

Mr. Hill arrived from Chicago, and presented himself at the hearing. His counsel asked for an adjournment for a few months, to enable him to square up his accounts. The adjournment was granted, and the case continued until September.

Fannig H. Towns has obtained a decree of divorce from Justice Andrews, of the Supreme Court, against Elzar K. Towns, an actor and singer in "The Old Homestead."

The new play which E. H. Sothern will present at the Lyceum when he begins his annual engagement in August, will be Marguret Merrington's "Lettarbiair." This play was given at a special matinee at the Lyceum last Fall, and made quite an impression. Since then "Lettarbiair" has been revised under the direction of Manager Daniel Frohman, and it is now to be made a feature of Mr. Sothern's repertory.

Hensers Hall, Winslow's new comedy drams, which he is writing for the Lyceum Theatre, will treat of New York life, and will be delivered to Manager Daniel Frohman about Oct. 1. It will be cast to the strength of the entire Lyceum stock, and will be put on for a run during the regular season.

MANAGES JOHN S. RAYNOR, of the People's Theatre, Miswakee, is in town, and on June 17 was a CLIFFER visitor. He tells us that the past season has been the most prosperous both financially and artistically since his theatre was built, six years ago—a fact that is due to the high class of vaude-ville attractions offered, and to the business methods of Manager Raynor. He first assumed the management of the People's Jan. 10, 1887, and, after two successful seasons, retired from the management in May, 1889, on account of poor health. The theatre had a checkered career for two years, and Mr. Raynor leased it again, opening it Sept. 6, 1891.

WORTH'S MUSKUM.—Business continues to be as large here as could be expected, when the season of the year is considered. Now that the electric fans to cool the atmosphere are in working order, the temperature of the interior is at all times made comfortable to the visitor. The determination to temperature of the Interior is at all times made comfortable to the visitor. The determination to keep the house open all Summer with no doubt, be carried out. Manager Worth's magnificent collection of rare curiosities is so admirably displayed and catalogued that the visitor becomes at once in touch with the time and locality each object represents. One may easily spend is day here in studying the collection of rare Indian relics, there being twelve large cases of them on view. This week's transtent features consist of Nicodemus seno), the nondescript; W. Hilton, juggler; Mayo, Guatamalian dwarf; Mile. Dorema, moss baired lady; Ghulleim Houssein, Perstan wizard; Rose Mooroe, bagpipe player; Alice Raymond, vocalist and banjoist; Nicola Cordano, one man orchestra; Yetsuma, Japanese fruit maker: Stephen Stephens, Punch and Judy, and the interesting tectures of Prof. Worth, who is always on hand. The stage people are Belle Chahing, Geo. M. Devere, Mathews and Harnes, Clark and Angeline, and E. H. Banker.

Sig. A. Farini will give a concert at Hardman Hall, Fifth Avenue and Nineteenth Street, June 23. The talent includes Mme. Ida Gray Scott, Mme. Torriana Hutchinson, Isabel B. Koster & Bial's Concert Hall is now cooled by three large electric fairs. One is a large exhaust fan fixed in the doine of the auditorium, connecting with a large air shaft reaching to the roof; the other two are placed in position in the rear, and at the lower end of the tiers of private boxes. This new arrangement keeps up a perfect circulation of fresh air during the performances. The programme this week includes Mons, Dufour and Mile. Hartley, in the dance "Militaire;" "The Joly Students," and their very sensational "Parislan Folly Dance." Other features are Samuel Dearin, in his unique musical act, which he burlesques for the first time, appearance in white face and full evening dress; the Brothers Borani, "disappearing demons," Jules Keller, a remarkably clever gymnast; the Salambos, described as the "electrical wonders" (their first appearance here), and the new burlesque, "Pocahontas." On Monday, July 4, Nada Reyval, announced as the "Chanteuse Electages." From Les Ambassadeurs, Paris, will make her first appearance in America. Marie Lovd, who was to come over from England and also appear on that date, will be unable to fulfil her engagement. The managers of the London Alhambra have secured an injunction, alleging that she is bound to them by contract, and restraining her from playing at any other house.

A WELL DESKEVED AND WELL ATTENDER BRENFIT.—In these days of benefits and testimonials, when all a person has to do is to engage a theatre and announce a benefit performance for himself, it is a pleasure to turn from many so called "complimentary testimonials," and record an occasion where the attaches of a theatre have, by long connection and faithful work in the interest of their employers, been tendered a bona fide benefit. Such an affair occurred at Miner's Elighth Avenue Theatre Monday night, restraining net from paying as any owner house.

In these days of benefits and testimonals, when all a person has to do it to engage a theatre and announce a benefit performance for himself, it is a possible performance for himself, it is a possible performance of the performanc song, and Ella Greene, Thomas Hayden, Adolph Parks, Carlotta Saffi and others filled out an excellent programme.

Tony Pastok's Theatre.—These are tough days for theatres, but, despite ambitious thermometers, this popular playhouse has a goodly quota of patrons every night. A novelty in the entertainment crops out now and then, too. On Monday night, June 20, a trio of foreign acrobats made their first appearsance in America. They were the Sisters De Vere. In feats of tumbling and vaulting, handsprings and somersaults. The De Veres were well received, yet their act developed nothing startling in the acrobatic line. Their leaps, jumps and filp flaps were performed in the customary way, and often were not one whit above the standard set by ordinary domestic athietes. The trio seemed somewhat nervous, and made not a few slips and misses. The other entertainers on this week's programme are up to the mark. They include Lavender and Thomson, in a comedy sketch; Montague and West, in a neaf musical act; Josie Gregory, character singer and dancer; Beliac and Aouda, equilibrists; Bounie Thornton, singer, Marion and Belle, vocalists and dancers; the Dillons, black face fun makers; John E. Drew, character comedians, Lottle Glison, balladists; Ryan and Richfield in a brilliant comedy sketch by Earle Remington, entitled "444," and Prof. Chas. Osten with his stereoptic views. Manager Tony Pastor sailed June 18 on his annual Summer trip to England. He will remain abroad six weeks or more.

Philadelphia.-The Summer season at the Philadelphia.—The Summer season at the Empire has closed, it having been clearly demonstrated that in hot weather a little theatrical entertainment will go a great way, and that in very hot weather the sweltering public cannot be cajoled into any theatre. except those which it has been accustomed to patronizing in Summer. With but four houses open there is but little news stirring and a brief report is in order. Grand Offrae House.—A varief reportory is presented this week. It includes "Cavalleria Rusticana." "The Marriage by Lantern." "The Ballo in Maschera." "The Daughter of the Regiment." "Friend Fritz." "Il Trovatore." "Don Giovanni" and "Carmen." Last week the attendance was very recleases" was revived June 20, with Fay Templeton in the title role, assisted by Peter F. Dailey as General Brown. Lea Van Dyck as Wands and Delia Stacy as Primce Paul. "The Widow's Dance," one of the cleverest conceits of the season. is retained in the opera, as it will be in all subsequent productions. A new feature will be a wooden shoe dance by the chorus, and a solo in sabots will be done by Madge Stone, specially engaged for the occasion. The attendance continues astisfactory.

Patapaco Navy regatta—June 22, with R. T Bader 2, 105 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Md. THE MUCH TALKEN OF RACE between the steam yachts Vamoose and Norwood has been postponed indefinitely. The engine of the Vamoose broke down June 20 off Eaton's Point, on the Sound, which puts a stop to her racing for the present. The race is not exactly off, as George Hall, chairman of the Regatta Committee of the American Yacht Club, hopes that the contest will yet take place. The failure was a great disappointment to the owner of the Norwood.

The trouble with the yachtsmen this Spring at the various regatias has been lack of wind, but this was various regatias has been lack of wind, but this was not the case June 20, when the New Jersey Yacht Club held its twenty-first annual regatia, as matters were reversed, and the cry was too much wind. Thirty-two yachts entered for the races, but only nine crossed the starting line, and of these only seven finished. There was a stiff southwesterly breeze, which made it much more pleasant on shore than on the water, and there was a general "I guess I won't go out today."

There was really only one race, and that was in the twenty foot catboat class, in which four started. The Lottle was the only one in Class B to start, and of course had a walk over. The Edith was the only starter in Class G, but she did not finish. The start was made at 11.15, the boats crossing the line on the port tack in the following order: Wanderer, Lottle, Nymph, Caroline, Charm, Shamrock, Emma A., Anonymous and Edith. Classes B, Cand E went down as far as Swinburne Island, turned at Buoy 9 and came back. The other classes turned at Buoy 9 and came back. The other classes turned at Buoy 9 and came back. Cornell Again a Winner.

The long list of victories won by the representa-tives of Cornell University on the water was added to on Wednesday, June 15, at Ithaca, N. Y., when the crew of the University of Pennsylvania went the crew of the University of Pennsylvania went down before the superior work of the men in Cornell's 'varsity boat. The distance rowed was three miles, straightaway, and the oarsmen of Cornell led almost from the word, for, although they were a tride slow in starting, they obtained the lead in a couple of strong strokes, and at the end of the first half mile were two lengths ahead. This advantage they maintained without expending all their power, rowing well within themselves till the last hif mile, when they put it on, drawing easily away and eventually crossing the imaginary line at the finish half a dozen good lengths in advance. Time, 17m. 26s. The crews were constituted as follow: Cornell—F. W. Kelley (bow), C. J. Bart, G. F. Wagner, W. H. Dale, A. W. Marston, G. P. Witherbee, E. G. Gilson, T. Hall (stroke), E. P. Allen (coxswain). Average age, 21½ years; average weight, 168½ b; average height, 5ft. 10½ in. Pennsylvania—W. M. Cooper (bow), Karl Mosberg, C. J. Marshall, A. J. P. Wilson, H. A. Davis, T. F. Watters, L. M. Williams, R. M. Barnes (stroke), G. H. Perkins Jr. (coxswain). Average age, 22½ s-9mos,; average weight, 163½ b; average height, 5ft. 10½ in. Afterwards the single scull race for the Cornell championship and the Francis Medal came off. The distance was two miles, straightway, and the race was won by W. D. Osgood, '94, in 14m. 27s.; W. C. Massachusetts Yacht Club.

This organization opened the season on June 15 with a regatta on Dorchester Bay. The wind was fresh from eastward and the sea smooth, while the weather was clear and warm. The course for all classes was twice around the triangle made by Farm Bar Buoy, Half Tide Rock, and Old Harbor Buoy, making the first leg of the triangle a beat to windward. The Alpha, Exile, and Catspaw, all centreboards, were the starters in the special class, but the Catspaw broke the boom on her jib before going far, and was obliged to withdraw, leaving the Herreshoff boat and the Exile to fight it out. The boats made a pretty race of it, but the Alpha won without her time allowance. She was fastest on the windward leg of the course, while the Exile gained in the running and reaching. In the twenty-one foot catboat class the Maggle had a walkover. In the eighteen footers the Scamp and the Marvel sailed a dead heat, and will sail off the tie in the next race in which they meet. Amateur Clubs, Attention!

The S. Griffith Mutual Benefit Association, of Hoboken, N. J., propose to have a junior four oared shell race, a senior four oared barge race, sack and sneil race, a senior four oared barge race, sact and tub races on the occasion of their annual excursion to Lake Hopatcong, on Aug. 18. All clubs are invited to send entries to the rowing events, for which the entrance fee will be five dollars, the same to accompany the entry. The association will furnish free transportation for boats, the crews to have charge of their own boats while in transit. Each member of the winning crews will receive a solid gold medal, and the clubs represented by winning crews will each receive a silk banner. The distance will be a mile and a half, straightaway. Two or more entries will be required in each class to ensure a race. No entry will be accepted unless signed by an officer of one crew in each race. Boats must be at the depot of the D., L. and W. R. at least one hour before the advertised time of departure of trains. The races will be rowed under the rules of the N. A. A. O., and the entries will close at 12 o'clock noon on Aug. 18. No entrance will be charged for the tub and sack races, for which good prizes will be given. For further information apply to A. P. Swain, chairman regatta committee, D., L. and W. The Atlantics on the Bay. As might have been expected, the Atlantic Yacht Club had their usual luck in selecting a superb day, June 14, for their twenty-seventh annual regatta and a most enjoyable day's sport was had. The start was made from Buoy 11, at the first of the ebb tide, the big boats, which included the schooners and all boats over 53ft., were sent off at 12.20 o'clock. and five minutes later the rest of the fleet were started, the last handicap whistle being sounded at 12.30 o'clock. They all crossed on the port tack and made a long leg over to the Coney Island shore.

made a long leg over to the Coney Island shore. The first boat to cross was the Peerless, at 12.22:24; the Marguerite next, at 12.22:03; Shamrock, 12.22:18, and Clara, 12.25:52. The small boats crossed as follow: Marguerite, cat, "at 12.26:02; Freyla, 12.26:38; Acorn, 12.26:44; Wasp, 12.27:02; Wilmerad, 12.27:27; Gulnare, 12.28:23, and Saona, 12.29:12. The following handleapped yachts were sent off at 12.30; Tigress, Wahneta, Daphne, Oconee, Daffodli and El Chloo. The first mark was the Southwest Spit Buoy for the schooners and Clara, and to Buoy No. 6, off the point of the Hook, for the others.

It was a dead beat to windward to the first mark. The wind freshened off Coney Island shore and the schooners and all of the larger sloops set jib topsails. The Wasp came in for her share of the wind, as her salls were set very high, and when the sloops and smaller yachts turned or passed Buoy No. 6, off the point of the Hook, it was in the following order: Wasp, 1.52:18; Tigress, 1.53:45; Clara, 1.54:18; Saona, 1.58:05; Gulnare, 2.00; Daffodli, 2.00:05; El Chico, 2.01:23; Acorn, 2.05; Marguerite, 2.05:12; Wilmerad, 2.07:16; Daphne, 2.09:35; Oconee, 2.10; Wahneta, 2.10:18; Freyla, 2.10:34. The Shamrock passed the Southwest Spit Buoy at 2.16:15, followed by the Marguerite at 2.23, and the Feerless at 2.28:30.

The wind increased and the sea grew very rough about the time they were clearing the Hook. The yachts began to bury their noses deep into the waves, and the jib topsails came in in short order. The Wasp came about and passed Scotland Lightship at 2.35:22, followed by the Clara 2.48; Tigress, 2.49; Saona, 2.52:10; Daffodli, 3.03; Shamrock, 3.08:48; Marguerite, 3.11:30. The Wasp fairly danced over the waves, and was the first yacht to round the stakeboat, anchored five miles to the soutwest of Scotland Lightship, at 3.29:30. On the run in the Wasp only set a big jib topsall instead of a balloon jib, which could have been used to advantage. The Marguerite and Shamrock made a pretty race home, which astracted no littl

The Columbias' Regatta.

A most delightful day was spent, June 14, by the members and guests of the Columbia Yacht Club, on which occasion they held their twenty-fifth an-nual regatta. The course for all yachts except those in Classes H and I was from a stakeboat anchored off their club house, at the foot of Seventy-ninth Street, Hudson River, to and around a stakeboat anchored off the Yonkers Corinthian Yacht Club house, and return. The course for Classes H and I was from the same starting point to and around a stakeboat anchored off Spuyten Duyvil and return. The yachts were accompanied over the course by the steamer Blackbird, with several hundred members and guests. The start was made in a mild, southwesterly breeze, and the race proved interesting. The steam yacht Frolic, owned by Robert Mayneld, covered the course in 2h. 24m. 25s., beating the Belle H., owned by William H. Harrison, by nearly an hour. The naphtha launch race between the Elsie V. and Lillian was interesting, although won by the latter by sixteen minutes and fifty-five seconds. The regatta committee were W. H. Rowe, chairman; George Parkbill, Andrew Dow, Charles Schwanke and David Holmes, and they deserve credit for the able manner in which matters were conducted. Annexed is a full summary: house, and return. The course for Classes H and I

Oars on the Harlem.

The Union Boat Club held their annual regatta on Saturday afternoon, June 18, over a straightaway halj mile course on the Harlem River, this city. The weather was rather unpleasant, nevertheless there was quite a turnout of the lady friends of the members, who occupied the balcony of the club house, from which an excellent view of the races was obtained, and, after the regatta was concluded, they whiled the evening away in dancing. An excellent band furnished good muse, and the members treated their guests with their accustomed rare hospitality. The races were all zood, but the most exciting of all was the eight oared shell contest. Summary:

The members of this organization enjoyed their annual regatta on Saturday, June 18, on Long Island sound, off Bowery Bay Beach. The weather was cloudy Sound, oil Sowery Bay Beach. The weather was cloudy and a strong norleaster covered the surface of the Sound with white caps and tested the sailing qualities of the small craft engaged, as well as the seammanhip of the crews. The source for Classes A. B. C. D. F and H. was to and around the buoy off Sands Foint and return, and for Classes E. I. around the Stepping Stones Lighthouse and returnless, and despite the state of the weather she was well laden with yachtsmen and others. Schuylkill Navy Regatta.

This annual event came off at Philadelphia, Pa, on Saturday afternoon, June 18, in pleasant weather, bar-ring that the wind was a trifle damp and chilly, and it Saturday afternoon, June 18, in pleasant weather, barring that the wind was a tride damp and chilly, and it was witnessed by the usual assemblage of amateur oarsmen, attired in their natty dress uniforms, their best girls, and several hundred other admirers of the art of rowing. They tound accommodation at Rockland, opposite which part of Fairmount Park the races fluished, and on the little steamer Riverside, which followed the races. The water was quite rough, but the oarsmen had the wind with them, and good time was made over the mile and a half straightaway course. Summary:

The lack of a good stiff breeze marred the pleasure, to a certain extent, of the thirty-fourth annual regatta of the Jersey City Yacht Club, as of the forty-two yachts which had entered only ten competed, two yachts which had entered only ten competed, pwing to the wind dying out about the time they were to have made the start. Only two boats raced in each of the five smaller classes. The judges were on the sloop Concord, which was anchored off the club house. The start and finish was from the same imaginary line, drawn from the judges' boat to a stake boat. The courses were as follow: Class G, around Robbin's Reef bell buoy and return, going over the course twice, the other classes saling to and around Buoy No. 11, off Swinburne Island and return. Teemer Won't Row.

According to a dispatch from St. Joseph, Mo., dated June 13, John Teemer will not be at Erie, Pa., to take part in the regatta announced to be held there on June 23. The reason given is that he is engaged in training the horse crew for the regatts of the Mississippi Valley Annateur Rowing Association, to be held at St. Joseph on July 3, 4, 5. If this is true it is a "dead give away" in the matter of the double soull match (") in which him and George H. Hosmer were announced to row Ed. Hanlan and William O'Connor for a purse of $1,500 and an alleged stake of $2,000 and justifies the remarks made by us in a former issue regarding the bona fides made by us in a former issue regarding the bona fides of the affair, since the parties to it falled to make good the stakes amed in the original articles of agreement. Just what has caused Teemer to draw out of the scheme at the eleventh hour we cannot say, but we are satisfied that it was not solely that mentioned in the dispatch referred to. We will, doubtless, know the true inwardness of the whole matter by and by, but it is safe to say that the affair reflects no credit on the prominent carsmen engaged in this alleged "championship" match. It is announced that Jake Guddaur has agreed to take Teemer splace. The reason given is that he is engaged in training

THERE IS EVERY PROSPECT that there will be a revival of the Potomac River regatta, which for years was one of the annual fixtures at Washington, D.C., and was wont to bring together some of the best crews and reuliers in the Eastern amateur circuit, to compete for the handsome and valuable trophies offered by the management, including The Beering Star and Daily Port Cups. for junior four oared shells: the Merchants' Cup, for junior four oared shells: the Merchants' Cup, for junior four oared shells and the Faimer Cup, for gig Trews. Conference committees have been appointed by the three clubs in the District, and there when he little, if any, difficulty in securing the money needs sary for the purchase of medals and bannerne she was the waste of the purchase of medals and bannerne the regatta. It was a great mistake on the part of the District clubs to have silewed this event to lapse, and we hope that they will act energetically to secure its revival and place it on a firm foundation.

BILLIARDS.

GEORGE F. SLOSSON is still in this city, patiently waiting for the arrival of his signed contract for a ten weeks' engagement in the Folies Bergere Theatre-Paris, to play a series of match games with all comers. Should the contract not arrive this week, and should Slosson in the meantime be assured by a callegram from the Paris house of the B. B. C. Co. that a sum sufficient to cover his ten weeks' engagement has been deposited with them, he will sail next Saturday.

THE New York house of the Brunwick Baike-Collender Co. received a cablegram from Chamolon Frank C. Itwes, on June 2b, announcing his safe arrival in Paris, and inquiring when Schaefer and Slosson would sail.

JACOS SCHARFER and W.K. H. CATTON salled by steamer La Bretagne on Saturday, June 18, and are due in Paris next Sunday. Schaefer goes to Paris to play Champion Ives for the balk-line championship of the world and the sliver oup. The match will be played in Paris about the third week in July. Before leaving home Schaefer announced that he was under no contract with any parties in Paris, but would be ready to meet all comers and would play any match contests that could be arranged between himself and the French or American players.

Fitz and Jimmy Separate.

Fitz and Jimmy Separate.

Bob Fitssimmons and Jimmy Carroll have at last parted company—something that had been threatened several times since the meeting between the Australian and Feter Naber. Fitssimmons was joth then to give Carroll that amount of the winnings that the latter was entitled to under the agreement between them, bob put his foot down on the managerist business, and concluded that he would thereafter pocket the amount of his earnings that he was wont to hand to Jimmy, and go it alone, or secure a less expensive manager. He left Pittsburg for New Orleans and Hay St. Louis on June 16. after replying to a telegram from President Nosl, of the Olympic Club, asking him if he would fight Joe Choynaki. His reply was to the effect that he would not hereafter go out of his class to fight anybody except Jim Corbett, whom he would be pleased to make a match with, in case the Californian defeated Sullivan, possibilities. In overset, do the presume to make a match with John L., but he would fight Choynaki at 1858, if that figure suited Joe.

John L. Sullivan visited the metropolis on Friday, June 17, having come from Boston to consult his backer, Charley Johnston, see E. E. Frice, the lawyer, who is engaged in writing a play in which the Bostonian is to cap. As usual he made his headquarters at the Vanderbilt Hotel. He returned to the Hub'on Sunday, and, after attending to the placing of a monument over the remains of his parents at Calvary Cemetery, will return to New York, when final preparations will be made for entering upon a strict course of training at a secluded spot on Long Island.

Jack McAULIFFE is located at Hampden, Me, training for his glove bout with Billy Frailer at the Manhattan Athletic Club, and for the more serious engagement with his old adversary, Billy Myer, before the Olempic Club, of New Orleans, in September next. Jack Inds the Drigo State, where small bottles are comparatively unknown, and difficult to connect with, a very good locality in which to prepare himself for the ordeal, through which he will have to go when he "stands forming" the Streator Cyclone.

HARRY WILSON, of the Quaker City, and Jack Kelly, better known as Ed. Quinn, of Pittaburg, Pa., fought four Queensherry rounds, at Glassboro, N. J., night of June 16, for a pures. Wilson scaled but 18th, while Kelly lowered the beam at 145h. Four rounds were fought, when the referce decided its draw, neither, in his judgment, baving had the best of the argument. Wilson sants to fight Kelly for from $50 to $500 a side.

his Judgment, baving had the best of the argument. Wilson wants to fight Kelly for from $50 to $500 a side.

GEORGE GOPFREY is a passenger on board the steamer City of Paris, which is due at this port today (Wednesday). The efforts marke to bring off a fight between him and Joe Choynski were unsuccessful, for the reason that none of the clubs over there will hang up a respectable purse as things go nowadays. The Gronods Club seldom offers more than $1,500, and the National Sporting Club lost so heavily over the Blavis-Jackson battle that they are in no condition to do anything now.

"JURNO" WALKER and Wash. Diggs fought for a purse of $50 and the gate receipts at Phebus P. O., Va., on June 17. They are both colored boxers, and they mauled each other in lively fashion. If not very scientifically, for thirty seven minutes, during which eight rounds were contested. At this juncture, when Jack was quite as good as his master, the referee declared it a draw.

BOD FITZSIIMMONS and J. C. Relley, a well khown local black-mith, engaged in a match at making horseshoes at the World's Museum, Pittsburg, Pa., on the evening of June 14. The time limit was thirty-five minutes, at the end of which "Fitz" was credited with having turned $6 shoes, beating Reiley by a dozen. Smart work, indeed.

A cricket week will be inaugurated June 27 on the grounds of the Germantown Club at Philadelphia. Three championship games of the inter-City League will then be played. On June 27 and 28, Philadelphia will meet Baitmore, and on June 29 and 30, representative elevens of Boston and New York will contend. The winners of the series will play on Sept. 16 and 17 the champion team of the West on the latter's grounds. The Western members of the Inter-City League are Chicago, Pittaburg and Detroit. The two last named met June 13 and 14, when the Pittaburg team proved victorious. Pittaburg and Chicago are to meet July 4 and 5 at Chicago. The Metropolitan District League had a meeting June 15 in this city, the chief business being the selection of the team to represent New York against Boston in the game of the inter-city championship series to be played at Philadelphia June 23 and 33. The committee finally resolved to select twelve players from the following list: A. Brown, Brooklyn; F. C. Calder, New Jersey; M. R. Cobb, Berkeley; H. B. Goyne, Manhattan; E. J. Chess at St. Louis.

Chess at St. Louis.

In answer to our appeal to be told something of chess doings and chess interests in the trans Mississippi metropolis, our esteemed and observant St. Louis correspondent sends as the following acreed which "lets the daylight in upon"—the situation:
"Chess at St. Louis has had a black eye' ever since the last Judd-Showalter match. Mr. Judd took umbrage at the idea of so many of the club members being outspoken in their wishes to see Mr. Showalter win that match, and in consequence he has kept aloof from us ever since. Of course our club is now strong enough to get along without him, but his absence hurs very much. We are much in the fix a school would be were the teacher to absent himself, and I earnestly hope that he may soon again shed the light of his countenance upon us. Barring a few of those disagreeable idiosyncrasies, which always crop out from some portion of humanity, our Max is a good one. He takes great pride in drawing out undeveloped chess talent, and I very much doubt if there is a chess club in America where more systematic effort has been made to educate the young in chess than here in St Louis, and mostly through the efforts of this one man. Yours, in Caisas's genial bonds.

An Overlooked Gem.—From The Times Democrat.

BY J. H. BLACKBRINE.

"That no human player ever approximates all the possibilities of the chees board, is a truism beyond the necessity of discussion, however much room for argument there may be over the proposition, advanced by some authorities, that the absolutely perfect player would be a full Kt stronger than any master that has ever lived. Certes, however, every now and then some curious instance of an overlooked 'gem' in a game between acknowledged first rates turns up and gives emphasis to the reflection as to how often these brilliants must actually lie in the possibilities of intricate and complicated positions, but unfortunately far, far too deeply buried to be reached—over the board, at least—even by the most penetrating human intellect. The following pretty position is something of an illustration of the fact noted. It occurred in a game at the Divan, between Messrs, Loman and Lee, after twenty-five moves:

Latest Doings and Sayings of the Baseball Fraternity. C. H. Byrne, president of the Brooklyn Club, re-

Baseball Fraternity.

C. H. Byrne, president of the Brooklyn Club, recently received the following letter from the widow of the late Hubbert Collins: "Your very sincere and warm hearted letter of May 3, addressed to my brotner in law, J. B. Collins, with draft enclosed for $3,019.02, has been handed to me by him, both of which touch the innermost recesses of my sad and sorrowing heart with a sense of deep appreciation to you and each member of the Brooklyn Club, for your tender sympathy and substantial manifestation of kind regard for me and my dear child, on account of your high esteem of my dear, departed husband. I also deeply appreciate the kind and hearty cooperation of all who have aided and contributed to the beneficent benefit covered by your draft, for the sum named. Words fail me in trying to express to you, and through you to all, how highly I value this great expression of your and their substantial token of esteem, sympathy and friendship. I shall ever hold tenderly sacred in my memory the Brooklyn Club, yourself, and each member of it personally and individually, and shall never forget to impress the mind and heart of my little boy, Hubbert Collins, of your material iald and great kindness to us, as a shining mark of your devoted friendship to his father. I sgain sincerely thank you and the club and all the very kind friends for your and their kindness, sympathy and ald to me and my dear child, and also for every act of kindness and friendship to my dear, departed husband, and I shall always pray that the blessing of God may ever abled with you all."

The Texas League held a meeting June 14, at Galveston. Tex. The meeting was abled to act and the act of the control of the c ship to my dear, departed husband, and I shall always pray that the blessing of God may ever abide with you all."

The Texas League held a meeting June 14, at Galveston, Tex. The meeting was called to order by President Packard, who stated that its object was the adoption of a constitution and bylaws. Amendments were offered limiting the number of players for each team to eleven men and the monthly salary to $750, including the manager when that official is a player; requiring the payment of all fines imposed within ten days after being levied, and permitting clubs to play off home games postponed by rain or other causes while traveling; consolidating the office of secretary and treasurer with that of president, and granting the later official $50 per month for help. These amendments were accepted and the constitution and bylaws were then adopted. The last eight games played between Houston and Galveston had been protested by the latter club prior to being played, and these protests were next called up. The Houston manager, McCloskey, was charged with playing more men than was agreed upon; with having induced Galveston to give up Rademaker to Fort Worth upon the representation that Houston would give Roberts to the same team, the object being to strengthen it; with not having signed a contract himself, and finally with engaging new players without the sanction of the other clubs or in the manner agreed upon at the first meeting. The discussion of these charges waxed warm at times, and it was finally agreed upon that McCloskey had violated the rules, and that Galveston's protests were based upon good grounds. This sentiment took the form of a resolution and was passed, Galveston agreeing to waive the protests in consideration of a vote of censure against McCloskey, who, despite a vigorous protest, was censured. The contracts and the president was directed to notify N. E. Young, president of the National League, of such action.

Indianapolis made ten runs off nine safe hits June s, at Minneapolis, and thereby defeated the home team, who could manage to score no more than nine runs off sixteen safe hits.

The Terre Hautes defeated the Quincys June 9, at Quincy, Ill., by a score of 3 to 1. A strange feature was that the victors did not make a solitary safe hit, while their opponents were credited with five. Donnelly pitched for Quincy, and Sowders for the Terre Hautes.

Lawyer Edmund E. Price, who has offices in The CLIPPER Building, is writing a four act drama for John L. Sullivan, the pugilist, who formerly played with the Stars, an amateur team of Roston. "It," Sullivan says, "will be called The Man from Boston, the Hero of the Nineteenth Century." In the first two acts I appear in yachting costume. The third act is a baseball scene, and the fourth act will be a set to with the gloves."

The Cincinnati Times-Ster says: "In the Boston-Cincinnati game, June 11, at Boston, only one error is credited to the visitors. In this case the score is misicading. It has been the accepted rule—in Cincinnati at least—for years to credit perfect play in a case of a chance for a double play if the first man was caught and the second got no farther than first base. The Boston case brilliantly illustrates the idea. Rash was at first when Stovey in the Micrhee in time for an easy double execution. Nash was put out by a quick throw, but George Smith let drive toward Comiskey a trifice high and Stovey's life was saved. A good throw would have closed the side out, prevented two runs from scoring, and as it turned out would have at least kept the score tied at the end of the ninth inning had the subsequent plays been the same. It is stretching the imagination beautifully to omit to charge a fielder with a 'chance missed' in a play like that, and still that is the unwritten law. The rule needs a little more light shed upon it from headquarters."

A dispatch from Pittaburg, dated June 15, says; "The Pittaburg Club today gave Pitcher Fred Woodcock the usual ten days' notice of release. This cuts the team down to ten players at present on the pay roll. At the New York meeting the local club exchanged Raymond to Washington for Donovan. Raymond reported in Washington for Donovan. In the Brockton-Pawtucket game, June 15, at Pawtucket, Umpire Kelliher gave the game to Pawtucket by a score of 9 to 0, after one inning had been played. A dispatch says: "Kelliher's action appeared to many to be arbitrary and hasty. In the first inning the Brocktons filled the bases by making three safe hits off Sexton, one man having gone out in the mean time. Doe was on third base. Sexton made a bluff to throw to first, turned suddenly and threw to third. Kelliher decided Doe out, when it was apparent he was not touched by two feet at least. Doe got angry and made a remark that cost him $5. He persisted in his talk, and was again fined $5, by which time McGunnigle had reached Doe and ordered him to his seat. Doe obeyed. The Brocktons were retired without a run. McGunnigle was on his way to his position in right field, when Capt. Jordan, of the Pawtuckets, was seen to go up to Kelliher and say something, whereupon Kelliher turned and shouted to McGunnigle that he would have to put some one in the game in the place of Doe. This was the first intimation McGunnigle had that Doe had been ordered out of the game. He did not have a man to put in. Burke was left at home with a lame ankle, and Lincoln, who was on the ground, had a very lame back from pitching the day before. McGunnigle attempted to show Kelliher how it was impossible for him to put in a competent man, and urged him not to persist in his order for the sake of the game in Pawtucket. Kelliher was deaf to anything McGunnigle said, and gave the game to Pawtucket."

George W. Howe, whose picture is above given, is the well known and popular treasurer of the Cleveland Club, of the National League and American Association. Although he has resided in the Forest City the greater portion of his life time, he is a typical Yankee, having been born about sixty years ago in Massachusetts. He is a cousin of Elias Howe Jr., the inventor of the sewing machine, and he spent a few years in Europe in introducing that remarkable invention. While abroad Geo. W. Howe received many high honors, among others that of being personally decorated by the Emperor of Austria. Soon after taking up his residence in Cleveland, Geo. W. Howe began his business career, and he quickly evidenced his aptitude for mercantile pursuits. He continued in business some time with flattering success, and in deserved recognition George W. Howe, whose picture is above given,

During the past fourteen seasons he has sustained a prominent part in baseball legislation, and when a Cleveland team was to be organized or strengthened, Geo. W. Howe was generally the first one sought out and solicited to ald financially, and he was always ready and willing to do so. No one can be more enthusiastic over our national game than the subject of this sketch, and among both players and magnates he counts hosts of friends on account of his genial disposition and his many estimable traits.

Abbey, of the University of Vermont, pitched professionally for the first time, and, although wild, he kept the hits well-scattered except in the third inning, when the St. Lowis bunched four singles. The contest was remarkable from the fact that every run made by the home team was scored after two men were out, Getzein was batted hard, especially in the fourth and eight innings, when ten safe hits helped the home team to eight earned runs. Donovan ied in batting, getting five timely singles. Milligan made two triples and Larkin hit a home run.

Brooklyn vs. Chicago.

The Chicagos were shut out for the second time in succession June 14, at Brooklyn. Stein, who formerly pitched for the Chicago team, was opposed to them on this occasion, and prevented them making more than three scattering singles, two of which were credited to Wilmot. The home team played perfectly in the field, Burns cutting off a run by a splendid throw to the piste after making a difficult running catch. St. Louis vs. Cincinnati.

The seventh and last game between these clubs was played June 17, at St. Lonis, the home team then scoring their first victory of the series. Gleason held the Cincinnatis down to three scattering hits, which, however, included a home run by Smith. Chamberlain kept the St. Louis from making more than seven hits, which were well distributed through six innings. Timely triples by Glasscock and Caruthers and a double bagger by Carroll materially helped the home team to win. Glasscock and Smith fielded finely at short stop, where they made several Washington vs. Baltimore.

The third game between these clubs was played June 15, at Washington, the home team then win ning for the second time. The Baltimores batted ning for the second time. The Baltimores batted Killen freely, but their hits were scattered, and fine fielding prevented their making more than three runs. The Washingtons batted Cobb hard throughout, especially in the last inning, when they made two home runs, two triples and a single, bringing in six runs, three of which were made after McGraw missed a chance to put out the third man. Killen's batting was the chief feature, he making a home run and two timely triple baggers.

Two games were played June 16, the first one having been brought forward one day from the date originally scheduled. Terry, late of the Brooklyn Club, was given a trial as pitcher, and Manager Hanion also made his first appearance with the Baltimore team. Halligan was unable to play on account of being spiked in the preceding game, and Robinson was substituted at first base. These changes apparently falled to strengthen the visitors, who were beaten both games. Terry was batted only in the second and third innings, when the home team bunched six hits, and scored a like number of runs. Gastright held the Baltimores down to six hits, which were scattered through as many innings. Schoch was hurt by being hit in the face by the ball, and Cobb took his place, playing right field, while and Cobb took his place, playing right field, whill Van Haltren was shifted to short stop. Pittsburg vs. Chicago.

Two games for one admission were played June 15, at Pittsburg, each team then being credited with 15, at Pittsburg, each team then being credited with a victory. Smith pitched so effectively in the open-ing contest that the Chicagos made only three scat-tering singles. Errors by Bauer and Farrell gave the visitors their two runs. The Pittsburga pounded Hutchison hard after errors had filled the bases in the fourth inning, and thus virtually won. Bauer made a drive to right centre for a home run in the sixth inning. In the absence of the regular umpire, Mitchell, a local substitute, officiated.

The New Yorks won again June 16, after a contest marked by an exciting finish. Crane gave the visitors two runs at the outset by his wild delivery, but he afterwards pitched very effectively up to the eighth inning, when the Brooklyns bunched three hits and scored two earned runs. Haddock was batted freely at times. Two timely singles by O'Rourke drove in three runs, and Lyons helped the New Yorks to the winning run by batting the ball into the free seats at left field for a home run. The Brooklyns ran their bases poorly, two men being found on the same base twice, Joyce attempting to run off Ward at second, and Griffin forcing off Burns at

A thunderstorm stopped the game after seven innings had been completed June 17, the Brooklyns then having the lead, and thereby evening up the victories in the series. Rusie prevented the Brooklyns from making more than two scattering singles, but by wild pitching he virtually gave theng the victory, forcing in the winning run by sending three men to first on called balls in the last half of the sixth inning. The visitors were also lucky in making another run on a short passed ball that hit the umpire. Hart held the New Yorks down to four safe hits, which, however, included a drive by Ewing to right field for a home run, that saved a shut out. Gore made a remarkable running catch at left centre that cut off at least two runs. The Brooklyns played without an error in the field, Ward having accepted inte chances. Lynch's umpiring was again unsatisfactory.

Boston vs. Pniiadelphia.

These clubs contended for the third time June 15, at Boston, the Philadelphias then scoring their secat boson, the series. Keefe kept the Bostons from making more than six scattering singles, and backed up by good fielding prevented any ringetting. Nichols also pitched very effectively, holding the Philadelphias down to five safe hits, including a triple and double bagger by Thompson. A single by Cross and a double bagger by Hamilton helped the Philadelphias to the only and winning run of the contest.

Rarned run—Philadelphia. Base on error—Boston. On balls—F. 1; B. 8. Biruck out—J. 4. B., 4. Two games were scheduled June 17, but rain stopped the afternoon conest after four innings had been played, the score then standing 4 to 2 in favor of the Bostons. Faultless fielding and heavy batting enabled the Philadelphias to Score a deci-live victory in the morning game, and thus tie the Cincinnatt Club for third place in the championship race. The first inning then virtually seliced the question of victory, the Philadelphias bunching six safe this, including three double baggers, bringing in five runs. Staley was also batted hard in the fourth and fifth innings, but afterwards pitched in fine form. Delehanty led in batting, making four timely singles. Keily was hurt and gave way to Bennett, who got in a long drive for a flower run.

Pittsburg vs. Cleveland.

Pittsburg vs. Cleveland.

Ten innings were necessary to decide the contest June 17, at Pittsburg, the Cleveland team then winning for the second time. Woodcock was given another trial as pitcher, but was knocked out in the first Inning, when the visitors bunched five safe hits for a like number of runs. Gumbert was afterwards substituted in the box, where he did vosd work during the remainder of the contest. After the first inning, when the Pittsburgs pounded out three runs, Cuppy kept the hits wide spart, although poor fielding in the fifth luning helped them so three more runs. The Clevelands tied the secre in the seventh inning, and it remained so until the last half of the tenth, when they scored the winning run on a fumble by Shugart after two men were out. Davis did the best batting, his three hits embracing a home run. Shugart's short stopping was the fielding feature, he accepting eleven chances.

THE SUBURBAN.

Montana Snatches the Big Prize from Major Domo. The great Suburban Handicap, which for weeks and months occupied a foremost position in the minds of the American public, is now a thing of the past, and the name of Montana has been placed on the roll of honor along with General Monroe, Pontlac, The state of the s Troubadour, Eurus, Elkwood, Raceland, Salvator and Loantaka, the respective winners of the Suburban from the time it was inaugurated in 1884 to the present date. It was by no means the most favorable day that could have been desired, but nevertheless there were fully twenty thousand people present. A larger crowd was expected and every possible preparation was made for their comfort. The Sheepshead Bay track presented a good appearance. The crowd commenced to gather about eleven o clock in the morning and by noon a steady eleven o clock in the morning and by noon a steady eleven o clock in the morning and by noon a steady eleven o clock in the morning and by noon a steady eleven o clock in the property of the compared their experience at the Brookyn Handclap, when hundreds of them were obliged to stand owing to the choice seats being occupied by gentlemen. By two o'clock the grand stand was packed to its numos capacity, and the crowd took possession of the lawn in front. White a good card was presented, the lawrent in pression man and the crowd took possession of the lawn in front. White a good card was presented, the lawrent in pression man that and borse would win it, owing to the fact that a three year old had never yet won a Suburban, although many very promising oneshave competed. On this occasion three of them—His Highness, Lamplighter and Loochatchee—had many admirers and were heavily backed. The fact is that of the eleven horses that started there was scarcely one that did not seem to have a winning chance. His Highness was well fancted, and was played leavily units a "up" on Montana, which caused such a rush to be made to get their money out on him that Montana was quickly made the favorite. The money went up on him so fast and in such lumps, at any figure they chose to place it at, that the bookmakers were finally compelled to remove him from their boards. It was a tip that spread like wildfire, and was backed out of sight. So great was the pressure to get money on the Study of the such as a speace of the such as a speace will be such as a such as a such as a speace of the such as a such

Montana vs. Major Domo.

The defeat of the speedy Major Domo by the Western crack, Montana, in the Suburban Handicap race proved very unsatisfactory to the owner and backers of the former, and the result of the talk that has been indulged in since the event has been the making of a match between those horses, for $2,500 a side, at a mile and a quarter, carrying 115h cach, as before, the Coney Island Jockey Club to add $5,000, and the race to come off on Saturday afternoon, June 25. Other horses that ran in the Suburban can enter up to June 28, and make the race a sweepstakes of $2,500 each, starting as originally handicapped for the race. If the race be a sweepstake, the second horse will save his stake. This contest, even if but Montana and Major Domo start, will attract an immense crowd to the course, and promises to prove one of the heaviest betting events of the season. The Major will be guided by another jockey, who is a better judge of pace and a better nurser than Lambley, probably Billy Hayward, and, as many are of opinion that his defeat on Saturday last was directly and solely due to the superiority of Garrison as a rider, he will be heavily supported, while it is hardly likely that Montana will lose any of his former friends. race proved very unsatisfactory to the owner and will lose any of his former friends.

JAMES LAWLOR, who was arrested for selling pools at 385 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, was, on June 18, held in $2,000 bail for the Grand Jury by Justice Waish. After the discharge of M. C. Yerba, who had been arrested for exactly the same offence, by Justice Pratt, on the ground that no proof had been presented that the money received by the clerk had been wagered this decision of Justice Waish was a knock down blow to the book makers, who were much elated over the decision in the Yerba case. Justice Waish, however, had not received any official notification of Yerba's discharge, and saw no grounds for reversing his former decision. Charley Johnston furnished the required bail.

JOCKEY FERD TARAL, the clever and popular rider, who has the reputation of being always "out for the stuff," which he very often gets, received a valuable present from John L. Sullivan, the boxer of world wide also watch, of intricate workmanship, set with dia monds and other precious stones, and bearing the inscription: "Presented to Fred Taral by his friend, John L. Sullivan," The gift, which is worth close upon $1,000, is a token of the donor's admiration of Taral's ability as a rider and his appreciation of his honesty in the pig-skin, and it goes without saying that it is highly prized by Fred.

JIMMY McLAUGHLIN is now the owner of the 4yr 50d coit Key West, having paid $5,000 for him to W. C. Daly, who a short time previously had oought him from J. A. A. H. Morris for $2,780. The ex Jockey has strong hopes of making a genuine racer out of his purchase. Daly atterwards bought Terrifier from the Messra. Morris, to whom he paid $2,500 for the wit.

THE ROYAL HUNT CUT was the main event on the card at the Ascot. Eng., meeting on June 16. It was won by McCalmont's Suspender, by Muncaater out of Garterless, with High Commissioner second and Stuart third The Coronation Rukes was run for on the same day, the winner turning up ha Ool, North's Lady Hermit, Vivien second and Broad Corrie third.

sage to The Neces from Columbus at 7 o'clock r. M. Schedule called for a trip to the Hoosler capital in twelve hours and twenty minutes. Although the time was considered extremely fast, the relays gained between the stations and the trip was completed fifty minutes and forty-eight seconds ahead of time, the message being delivered at The News office at 5.29:12. Between Columbus and Indianapolis there were twenty-three relays. The distance being over 200 miles, leaves the time per mile about 3½m. The roads were in fairly good condition. As nearly the entire distance was covered in the night, the feat performed by the twenty-three riders was the source of much jubilation among 'cyclists.

NOTICE TO MANAGERS.

WHITINGS MAY

We wish to inform all people and managers that We do not infringe on the Whiting and Shepard act or copy any so called brain work. We are the originators of this act we are now doing. We claim we have a far superior and stronger act than Whiting and Shepard, and if they do not improve their act we will make them ashamed of it. I, HUGH C. WHITING, am the author of the Whiting and Shepard act, and all the tricks he does are rightfully mine, who took you from the Pop Corn George Show and put you in the business—I, your brother Hugh. When one's own brother accuses him of stealing his act it is time to quit the biz. And when all managers see our act they will discard yours, and you will have to go back to the woods and I will pay your way home again.

P. S.—We are looking for an engagement. We are not just sneaking in the business, but have always been performers. Act consists of trick tumbling, leaping, singing and dancing, trick bedstead, bar and May Whiting's Great Spanish Dance. Come again, Bert.

pathetic city incident, have been set to an exquisite melody, easy to sing:

'From all his mother taught him he'd wandered far "From at its abstract Till was, and the street and "Nearer, my God, to Thee, nearer to Thee E'en tho' it be a cross that raiseth me!

"He heard the sweet and solemn words float sottly or the air,
And, oh, the mem'ries they recalled no other heart can knew;
He thought of one long dead, and bowed with grief his head.
It was the hymn his mother sang long years ago:

"If she could know in heaven her boy had gone astray,
How grieved, he thought, would be that gentle face;
Her tender, loving eyes seemed shining from the skies!
And bidding him his wand'ring steps retrace!
And, to his saddened fancy, his angel mother's voice
Mingled with the others, sweet and low;
The hymn he heard that night had guided him aright—
It was the hymn his mother sang long years ago!

In the two line introduction of "Nearer. My God, to Thee," occurs a wonderful imitation of a church organ.

We can fit anybody, stout or thin, with a garment suitable to his avoirdupois

If you are stout the most becoming garment you can wear is our one-button cutaway, which we make up in such style that one would remark:

"Isn't he well dressed!!" instead of "Isn't he stout."

A cutaway coat is the most graceful and dressy garment that a gentleman can wear whether he be stout or thin, and is always the proper thing either for dress or business wear.

For young men there is no coat like a three-button cutaway, which we make up so perfectly that you can't

We offer a special line of blue and black Clay Diagonals, also neat silk

These are soft finish, warranted not to wear glossy.

Coat and Vest to order,

$15.00.

"HIP PANTS" are now in great demand. What we mean by hip pants are trousers made to fit so perfectly over the hips that it is not necessary to wear braces (and you will find it very much cooler without them).

We have a special line of Hockanum and Globe Summer trouserings, neat checks and stripes.

Trousers to measure,

$5.00.

Usual price charged for trousers of same material is from $10 to $12.

We give a written guarantee warranting garments to wear one year without a break.

Samples and fashion review mailed on application.
